Linear Low Density can liners are made from high quality resins that are highly resistant to puncturing and tearing. The exceptional strength and stretch properties of Linear Low Density can liners make them a great general purpose can liner. Various resins that comprise Linear Low Density polyethylene include butane, hexene and metalloce. Numbers include VH at the start of the number.

High Density Can Liners are made from high molecular density resins, which are significantly stronger than other types of resins. The superior strength and moisture barrier properties of High Density can liners make them an excellent choice for heavy, wet trash. Numbers include VL at the start of the number
